Case #4: If we modify method level LV inside a LB, and if read this method level LV value after LB, we will get this LB latest modified value, because LB will store value in method level memory.